Court Square Group's RegDocs365 + Docxonomy

Are you facing challenges in getting your arms around the vast documentation required for the FDA drug review process? Revolutionize your document processing and regulatory compliance with eTMF autoclassification powered by Court Square Group's RegDocs365 in collaboration with Docxonomy.

COMPLETENESS, QUALITY, & TIMELINESS: eTMF & eCTD AutoClassification

Despite technology advancements, the clinical documentation process largely remains a human-centric activity. Today, Docxonomy's intuitive AI technology bridges the gap, automating collection, classification, formatting, and metadata extraction with human-like intelligence. And the results speak for themselves.

Manual Effort Reduction

This solution minimizes manual processing time by 75%, allowing efficient review of classification engine results.

Enhance Accuracy

Reduce human error using AI and Machine Learning (ML) utilizing multiple Large Language Models (LLMs).

Accelerate Decision-Making

Transform large volumes of unstructured documentation into well-organized content in a fraction of the time.

Refuse-to-File Actions

In the face of rising regulatory standards, it's crucial to eliminate misclassifications and missing metadata to avoid RTFs.

Streamline FDA Submissions

Create a unified and organized Electronic Trial Master File (eTMF) to ensure TMF completeness - ensuring more efficient FDA submissions.
